PLAIN ENGLISH, NO NONSENSE

What TRT Actually Involves

TRT isn't a shortcut or a magic switch. Done properly it's a steady, monitored process that restores your hormones to a healthy range. The results come from the bloods, the training and the consistency around it.

01 What it is, and isn't

Testosterone Replacement Therapy means bringing your testosterone back into a healthy, stable range under proper supervision. The goal is you feeling and functioning at your best: better energy, mood, libido, recovery and body composition.

What it isn't: a free pass to skip training and nutrition, an overnight transformation, or something to push beyond sensible ranges chasing "more is better." It works because it's dialled in and monitored, not maxed out.

02 What we're optimising

We don't just look at testosterone in isolation. A full blood panel lets us see the whole picture: your hormones, red blood cells, blood sugar, cholesterol, liver, kidney and prostate markers. That's how we keep you both feeling great and staying healthy long-term. Your detailed marker list is in the Monitoring Framework.

03 What to expect

WEEKS 1-3	Often subtle. Sometimes a lift in mood and drive as levels stabilise.
WEEKS 4-6	Energy, libido and gym performance typically start to improve. First re-test window.
WEEKS 6-12	Strength, recovery and body composition build as everything settles into range.
ONGOING	Steady, sustainable progress, reviewed against your bloods, not guesswork.

04 Your part of the deal

The protocol is only as good as what you do around it. To get the most from this:

- ☐ Get your bloods done on time
- ☐ Train consistently
- ☐ Protect your sleep
- ☐ Log how you feel honestly
- ☐ Hit your nutrition targets
- ☐ Flag anything that feels off early

05 How we keep it safe

Your dose and any medication are prescribed and adjusted only by your clinician. I never guess with that. My job is to read your bloods with you, programme your training and nutrition, track how you're feeling, and make sure everything moves in the right direction. Evidence first, always.

If anything here raises a question, bring it to our next call. No question is a daft one.

All the best,

Callum

READY TO DO THIS PROPERLY?

Structure over motivation, around your protocol

Training, nutrition and bloods reviewed together, every month. Start with the free 20-minute call: callumbcoaching.co.uk/book